We are a Kiwi/German couple travelling the world on a budget. Dedicated and energetic travel bloggers with a love of books and alternative destinations, we provide our readers with detailed guides and practical travel information.

Travels of a Bookpacker targets budget and long-term travellers with a sense of adventure. Our readers love lesser-known locations and independent travel with a good dash of the outdoors and some cultural experiences thrown in!

We work with companies to promote useful and good value products, interesting destinations and sustainable travel.
